WHY SHOULD NOT CANADA HELP ITSELY?-The Rev. John Stannage puts this query, and says :- " The question at the head of this pa et is so often put to me while travelbegging for tenterio College, that I fancy on-cause of the little success I meet with is the Wast of information which prevails on the subject. Canada is supposed to be very wealthy. It is even believed that our four millions scattered over a country as large as Europe can defend themselves against (anada onght to cover the country with churches and p essenages and clergymen and schools, though is is only one fit below. schools, though is is only one-fifth of the population! Were we all united in Canada as we should be, and the Bible requires Chris tains to be, it would be a different thing.
Will you permit me to inform your read as that the die ese of Outario is as large as I eland, and that of the 90,000 Churchmen scattered all over it, amid a great vari-ty of ects, I do not know one doz n of independent men? And we are maintaining eight clergy, only eleven of whom receive a small grant from the S. P. G. and we have one hundred congregations with churcles parsorages or regular services. And w are taxed to support an immense sys em of godless educa-tion. It is to much to a k a few crambs from the rich and beneficent in England who are spending their tens of thousands upon mere o nament, splendid man ions, costly pictures, packs of hounds, or e egant monuents? I am thankful for what I have obthined but the sum does not yet amoun to months of hard work : and for so large an undersking we want at least 2,000/. f. an additional building buildes the end wment. I would therefore beg to say that, should we fail in our object, the money received shall be spoiled to the building of churches or parsonages, unless any of the doners should desire their donations to be returned."

THEA NNUAL STATEMENT, required by the Act, of Pensions of Colonial Governors, is discontinued by a Treasury minute. Is this a concession to the sensitiveness of old governors as to the extent of their facome being made public, or has the Government, in a fit of shame and penitence, determined to suppress this information, in case the British public should perceive how shabbily men are treated who have spent their lives in the unthankful service of their country ?

The Daily Standard.

Wednesday, June 29, 1870. Independence of British North

A few days ago we remarked that the Confederation of British North American provinces meant a Federal Union of Canada with England, or a separation from the mother country. That it meant that British North Americans would be the political equals of English men, or would create an independent nationality of their own. The telegrams yesterday indicated that this question is about to be tried much sooner than we anticipated. A large mass-meeting has been held at Montreal, and the independ ence of Canada boldly advocated. We have not been put in possession of the resolutions, or the names of the speakers at the meeting; but, judging from the current of opinion, both in and out of the Dominion Parliament, the meeting doubtless was led by some of the most advanced public men in Canada. During the session of the Dominion Parliament in 1869, one of the members of Parliament asked the Ministry, what was meant by reference to the nationality of Canada? His inquiries drew forth no satisfactory response from Sir John A. Magdonald, whitst the way in which Mr. Huntingdon handled the question attracted a considerable degree of atten tion throughout the country. Since then Sir A. F. Galt, possibly the most eminer t financier in the Dominion, and recently Finance Minister in Sir J. A. Macdonald's cabinet, has boldly pronounced in favor of the movement. Mills, of Western Canada, and the Hon. John Young, of Montreal, are also well known advocat s of independence. Numbers of other prominent men sympathize with the movement, and indicate that the new party will have for its leaders men of high social position and recognized political ability. Some of the leading pewspapers in Western Canada, Montreal, Quebec, and the Maritime Prov inces, have been 'engaged for some time in discussing the subject, and some of them have boldly advocated indepen-dence. When men like Galt, belonging to different parts of the Dominion, wen who have a political reputation, a public position, a recognized influence, and a respectable following, open'y speak of independence as a certainty, we may feel assured that the solution of the question cannot be long delayed. In fact it is almost certain that the question of in-dependence will be one of the leading BOUCHE, FILS & Co. questions, if not the question, on which SPECIAL CUVIE the general election of the Dominion in BOKER'S BITTERS, 1871 will turn. The entire tendency HOSTETTER BITTERS, of events indicate that the solution of G. PRELLER CLARET, the question cannot be long deferred, BANCROFT CIDER.

The present generation of British Americans have outgrown the notion of tolonia dependence. While their sympath ses may be in favor of British connection their manhood and their self-respect revolt at the idea of continuing to be the political inferiors of Englishmen. The example of their American neighbors : the success of that great people, teach them that not to be the political equals nationally is to occupy an inferior position with the worl , as well as in the nation. Such being the case it how remains only for the statesmen of Canada and of Great Britain, or the people of those two British communities, to determine how the present relations can be maintained and at the same time allow the Canadians an equal voice with the English-man in the National Councils. If that cannot be done, the independence of Canada is certain. In this matter, therefore, we cannot be disinterested speciators. The revision of the political relations between England and the Dominion will include British Columbia. As Canada goes, so goes British Columbia. Hence the sooner we commence the discussion of this great question, the better we will be prepared to deal with it in our own interest. Events follow one another now in such rapid succession, that we know not how soon we muy be called on to pronounce our opinion either for or against Independence.

New York, June 28.—The past week was unusually quiet, so far as Cape Horn lines are concerned. The amoust of business transferred by ships in berth is limited. This apathy in trade is a forerupper of what s to come, and predicted some weeks since. The present summer will prove the dullest ever experienced. Since California trade was inaugurated rates show at ne of weakess. No with tanding vessels loading have been char ered or guaranteed as high figures. There are too many lines for present wants. Steamer treights are up to average, but rates lower. The steamer of 22d inst, took 300 toos from California. Ov rland frei hts pove active, owing to reduction in rates, il t'e rates on many goods are above those saked by steamers; the latter continue doing fair business. Extraordinary Tenacity of Life.

One of the most remarkable instances of tenacity of life is recorded in late English papers. A woman diel at the age of fortysix, who, from the age of two years, had been confined to her bed, an idiot, bli id, at d terribly deformed, and yet in such a state of health as ne er to have required medical at. Breat and chees, and ale were her ac stomed feed, and her appetite was un'ail i.g. an! her dives ion periect; so that she is can be conceived -p easantly and happily. She died suddenly and unexpectedly, after her usual supper, passing off, as it were, in sleep A post-mortem ex mination rev al d rmed and that her heart was at a con iderable distance from its n tural position, being very larg and a mass of fet, with no muscular tissues. The soine was doubly curved the bone's were limetes, and pliable, and other org as of the body were out of place and deformed. The head was mishanen and contined two quarts of water. It is marve ous that such a nalformed being cou have live tatall, but that life should have bee prolong d s it was in this case, and even enjoyed, is a physical phenomenon which we think must be w thout para lel. It is painful to real ze that the flesh in which we live is heir to such ills ; and the contem plation of such a sight, mindless, shapeless, aimless, profitless existence, set at naught all theories of creation and Providence. Mone than 30,000 emigrants from Europe land dat New York during the mon hoof: May. These deluded peop eare coming to settle in a country where liber y is being rapidly t amped out and where taxes are terr bly appressive and where poor people are subjected to the most galling burdens and where tyr nts and desp ts bear rule and -for fur her particulars we the Democratic news papers of the day. - American paper.

PROPOSED SHIP CANAL FROM MANCHES-TER TO LIVERPOOL -In consequence of the success of the Suez Canal, the proposal of a ship canal from Manchester to Liverpool has been revived. It is proposed to do with the river Irwell what Glasgow has done with the Clyde. Mr. Hamilton Folton, C. E., has made a survey, and proposes, after cutting off the bends, to widen and deepen the bed of the river. It would be a tidal channel of 33 miles, of which 19 would be excavations and deepenings, and 14 training, 200 feet wide at the surface and 80 feet at the bottom, with a minimum depth of 22 feet The cost of land, construction of wharves road and railway bridges, and compens tion for mills, &c., is estimated at 1,000, 000l., and the cost of deepening, widening, and dredging would not exceed 1,500, 0001. It is calculated that's trade of million tons inwards and outwards might be forthcoming upon which 2s. per ton would give 300,000 t, or 8 per cent. after all expenses,

POSTAL SERVICE BETWEEN AMERICA AND ENGLAND .- In the House of Commons on May 13, Mr Baines asked the Postmaster-General if he had received any reply from the Postmaster-General of the United States in regard to the more speedy conveyance of the mails from America.—Lord Hartington had received a reply from the Postmaster General of the United States, but he was sorry to say that it held out no hopes of any ac-cleration in the transmission of the mails from America as long as the packet companies refused to accept the remuneration whice he was empowered by Con gress to offer.
